This Month's Meeting

May Meeting Program

John Rhoads will demonstrate sketching and Orthographic Projection drafting. Orthographic is a fancy word that means make flat. When applied to drawings of something that is to be built the "projection" just means that the front, top and side views are separated so that they are easier to see.

Rhoads does most of his sketching and drafting on a small drafting board with a small T-square on 8.5x11 paper. He will bring paper, some small boards and a few shop built T-squares to the meeting.

Rhoads is asking members to bring the 12 inch steal blade from a combination square and a sharpened pencil.

If you do drafting on a regular basis please bring drawings, architect or engineering scale rulers and 45 and 30-60 triangles.

From The President's Corner –

“Time is fun when yer having flies”, said the frog. I hope everyone has had enlightening, productive fun since our last monthly get-together. Thank you goes out to Lou Ortega and crew for the plaque recognizing the SWWG for supporting USD 259 with their woodworking skills. Congrats to Bill Patton on his acquisition of a vintage combination plane from our door prize drawing last month. A week later, I watched as 4 collectors tossed the gloves off and “almost” went to the mat over an antique squirrel tail plane in pristine condition (Sparks Ks). I was privileged to be at the home of a young lady, born in the early 1920s, as a crew of local woodworkers installed her very first NEW kitchen cabinets. EARTH day at the extension office and conservation day at Dillon Nature center, who says sustainable woodworking isn't fun? And Saturday, being there when Burt plus eight installed the custom designed display cases at the Museum of World Treasures was a very satisfying way to complete a month of representing woodworking to the community. When asked about the amount time Burt's builders spent on the display cases, the timekeepers agreed that about 263.5 man hours would be close to correct. And finally, a big THANKS to all, who weren't mentioned, who have used your time and talents to enrich the lives of others in our community. Members of the Guild should be rightly proud of the charitable efforts of many of our members. Sawdust and Shavings are therapeutic.

April 2011 SWWG meeting minutes:

No visitors or guests present

New business:

The Big Tool Store fall sale is scheduled for October 13-15. Start building some really cool projects to show off the guild. You got an early notice so no excuses to have something to bring.

We filled out a membership form that will help members find others in the guild that might have expertise or equipment to assist them in getting that special help to solve problems right in their neighborhood. We also took photos to help connect a face with a name for those of us that are poor with names. Burt Unruh collected ideas for future program development.

Show and Tell:

Les Hastings found the best deal that has ever been found on Craigslist for carving tools, wood, equipment, etc. He purchased over two pickup loads of high quality carving stuff that was used at a carving school that quit business. What a find!!

John Saranko showed off some of his high quality intarsia work this month, he brought two items; an eagle on a flag and a wolf. The flag was colored using food coloring dyes.

Jerry Keen showed a small mission style table built from quarter-sawn white oak.

Jerry Carpenter brought in a shaving horse and let members try their hand at using a draw knife and spoke shave.

George Hansen showed off two jewelry boxes that were made with burr oak and spalted maple with finger jointed joinery.

Bill Tumbleson demonstrated how his half lap miter joint jig worked to get repeatable miter joints that have the extra strength and appeal of the half lap.

Old business:

The Fulton plane that member Jorge Gomez donated to the guild last month was cleaned up by Slim Gieser. He reported that the Fulton brand plane was sold by Sears and is very similar to a Sargent 1080 plane. This plane was complete with 20 irons in the original box. We raised $360 for the guild treasury and Bill Patton went home with unique plane and story to tell.
